

THE CENTER FOR ARTS EDUCATION

On March 27th, New York 1 News aired a piece about a Bronx principal who is fighting to keep arts education alive in his school, despite recent budget cuts. Richard Kessler was interviewed about his thoughts on why arts programs are usually the first to go.

Read the full story below, or click here to see the clip online.